

All About Foxes

Use the information in the boxes below to write a non-chronological report about foxes. You should write two paragraphs for each box. Make sure that the points in each paragraph are all about the same subject. Write a subheading for each paragraph to tell the reader what it is about.

they live in small family groups they eat small animals like mice and birds they mark their territory with scents they have a varied diet foxes will store food to eat later they can live in the countryside but also in towns and cities they eat berries their nests are called dens foxes have pointed ears baby foxes are called pups or cubs foxes give birth to multiple pups at a time foxes weigh around 4 - 8 kilograms baby foxes are very playful foxes have reddish-brown fur and a white belly foxes have a long bushy tail foxes reproduce (have babies) once a year

All About Foxes

Answers

Use the information in the boxes below to write a non-chronological report about foxes. You should write two paragraphs for each box. Make sure that the points in each paragraph are all about the same subject. Write a subheading for each paragraph to tell the reader what it is about.

B they live in small family groups

A they eat small animals like mice and birds

B they mark their territory with scents

A they have a varied diet

A foxes will store food to eat later

B they can live in the countryside but also in towns and cities

A they eat berries

B their nests are called dens

E.g. A: What foxes eat
B: Where
foxes live

E.g. C: What foxes look like
D: Baby foxes

C foxes have pointed ears

D baby foxes are called pups or cubs

D foxes give birth to multiple pups at a time

C foxes weigh around 4 - 8 kilograms

D baby foxes are very playful

C foxes have reddish-brown fur and a white belly

C foxes have a long bushy tail

D foxes reproduce (have babies) once a year